* “The Bylaws that currently govern operations were originated in July 2004 under Wayne Wainwright’s tenure. Wayne spent a considerable time researching and developing these Bylaws. I am not familiar with the prior Bylaws, but Wayne Wainwright often stated there was not much to them, if they even existed. When you talk with Wayne, I suggest you explore this topic with him.

“Needless to say, the ’04 Bylaws were a radical departure from prior operations. One key change was the stipulation that VP would automatically become the President. In other words, the VP became a President elect and spent two years in training, so to speak. It was an absolutely brilliant idea and one that assured continuity of leadership from one group to the next.

“The Bylaws also state terms begin in May and end in April. I believe that practice was adopted before the ’04 Bylaws, but it was never written down.”
